

Control of Cyber-Physical Systems via on-line simulation

John Brooke University of Manchester

- We examine classes of Cyber-Physical Systems that require control by human intervention, control is not fully automated.
- We illustrate this concept by its application to a Water Distribution System

